To whom it may concern:

If you are looking for a top-notch professional real estate attorney with great work ethics you can do no better than Mark Ginsburg.

I have had the pleasure of working closely with Mark and his firm, Ginsburg & Redmond PC, on all matters relating to reducing the risks associated with Real Estate ownership as well as claims and insurance litigation.

Mark has a take-charge professional attitude with a subtle yet confident approach to every problem we have worked on.

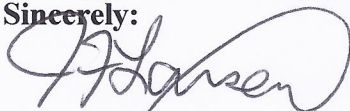

Our profession requires a set of unique skills, often not readily apparent. It's easy to recognize a skilled piano player or a skilled carpenter. You can watch them work, see, feel and use the finished product.

In the law profession there is no concrete way to immediately show off your skill. Most activities are detailed, time consuming and drawn out, without immediate satisfaction. Successful results may not always be apparent until years after the completing of the project.

In my more than 15 years working with Mark I have seen, first hand, the successful results of his dedicated client oriented work.

Personally and professionally I would recommend Mark Ginsburg for any assignment or challenge you might give him. I know he will successfully represent your best interests.

Sincerely:

James F. Larsen
